11 'Ordinary People' Tackle Vital Question of Future of Genetic Research in Princeton

Eleven Princeton citizens, from homes as widely separated as Battle Road Circle, Birch Avenue and Meadowbrook Drive, are studying, talking about and wrestling with a problem which may have even more importance for the world than the splitting of the atom.

Should research on re-combinant deoxyribonucleic acid --DNA-- be permitted within the boundaries of Princeton?

"You're in the position, on this committee, of having to make a decision about work you don't understand," observes Suzanne Fremon, chosen by her colleagues to be the head of the group.

The Princeton Community Committee on Research with Biohazardous Material was appointed by Borough Council and Township Committee in late January and has since been meeting twice a week for two hours at a time.

Between meetings, members do the kind of homework that even the scientists on the committee haven't done for years, reading a vast collection of scientific papers, popularized articles, the guidelines set up by the British last year, the report of the Environmental Study Conference, held for members of the United States Congress and their staffs, and of course, Princeton University's own report on biohazardous research from last December and the basic guidelines laid down by the National Institutes of Health.

If you are a clergyman, like Wallace M. Alston Jr.; someone with many years of involvement in community attairs, like Mrs. Fremon and Mrs. Emma Epps; or even a physician like David H. Fulmer, a physicist like Freeman J. Dyson or a chemist like Carl A. Price, how do you go about acquiring, by May 1, the knowledge you must have in order to write a responsible report for Princeton's governing bodies?

"With me, you'll have to start with Square One," announced the Rev. Mr. Alston on Day One, as the committee settled back for the first in a pair of elementary lectures, with colored chalk on a blackboard, given by Professor Price.

"They were good lectures, and we'll be calling on him again," Mrs. Fremon says

In fact, Professor Price, who is on the Rutgers faculty, will be steering the committee through the NIH guidelines, with discussions scheduled to start at this Saturday's 1 p.m. meeting in Township Hall. The public is invited.

These guidelines are crucial and basic to the committee's final report. They lay down rules for anyone doing DNA re-combinant work on a Federal grant. Princeton University's own guidelines, which the University has committed itself to follow if it proceeds with DNA re-combinent research ere stricter than the NIH's.

Although the citizen committee has met eight times, it has not felt until now that it had enough background to plunge into the NIH rules.

First, the committee had to learn that deoxyribonucleic acid--DNA--is the genetic material in all living things. In re-combinant research, scientists in a laboratory take a fragment of DNA from one living cell and incorporate it into a cell from another species, forming a new and active re-combinant gene.

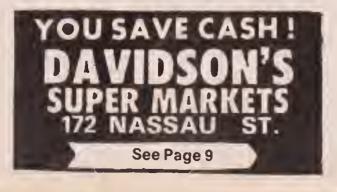

The research has tremendous potential. It could be possible to sidestep diabetes by incorporating insulin manufacture genetically in humans, or to develop a plant which would take nitrogen from the air, thereby eliminating the need for tertilizer.

But there are potential hazards and scientists themselves some two years ago, called for a moratorium on DNA re-combinant research until safety measures could be worked out.

The NIH guidelines themselves were developed as a result of that moretorium.

Princeton University would like to do this research, and appointed a Biohazards Subcommittee of the University Research Board to develop policies. Its report, recommending had asked whether it was possible for a community to become informed on the subject of re-combinant research, and he had replied that there was no such thing as informed citizens, and only "barely informed" scientists.

Meetings Are Valuable. "I feel that he should not have played his reply for a laugh," Dr. May told the citizens. "It IS possible for you to become more informed than Chargoff himself.

"And I think it IS possible, in a town like Princeton, to have a discussion," he continued, looking ahead to the open meetings planned by Borough and Township governing bodies.

...but I don't think a public debating format is ap-propriate - where the Pope and Galileo each get five minutes, for example. When you handle it that way, truth goes out the window."

As part of its course of study, the citizens committee spent two hours last Saturday afternoon in the Guyot Hall biology labs.

"For somebody who isn't a scientist," Mrs. Fremon remarks, "what's done remarks, "what's done routinely in a biology lab is really quite astonishing. The tendency of non-scientists is to sit with your jaw hanging open and accept it all."

Containment Possible. She points out, for example, that one way Princeton University would protect researchers and the community – including the globe itself in that community, by the way – is to use crippled strains of the common E. coli bacteria that are the work-horses of re-combinant research. This is called "biological containment."

Mazur Nursery

Bakers Basin Rd. 587-9150

"The whole idea is astonishing!" she says, "that you can MAKE a strain of E. coli that won't live anywhere except right there in the lab solution - salt or sugar or whatever -- or in the lab temperature, or a com-bination that isn't present anywhere else. This is sort of tossed off as a 'given.'

Physical security like double doors is easier to understand. It is linked to Dr. May's emphatic assurance that the University would never, never allow anybody to do P-3 work in a P-2 lab, and that the University guidelines – unlike those of the NIH – say that scientists in its labs can't work with primate DNA. This wouldn't be so easy to say, he observed, if Princeton had a medical school with resear-chers pressing to do primate

A NDI SUBSIDIARY WORLD'S MOST EXPERIENCED

You are cordially invited to join the Carters, Fords, Vanderbilts, Lincolns and Lindbergs

School. The show features regular classes in obedience and again this year because of their popularity, classes in Brace where two dogs work simultaneously on command.

The Princeton Dog Training Club, founded in 1952, holds three training sessions a year for dog owners who wish to teach their pets good man-ners. In working for an obedience degree, many people discover the pleasure of an increasingly closer relationship with their dog and a new hobby for the whole family.

Among the special prizes being awarded this year is the Princeton Dog Training Club Founders Challenge Trophy, a sterling silver Revere Bowl. It will be given to the highest scoring dog in Open B and Utility classes and for per-manent possession must be won three times.

The Trial will be open from 7:30 a.m. to 6 p.m. Admission for adults will be $1 and 50 cents for children. Parking is free and refreshments will be available.

sojourn because of the great interest in the American Field

Service exchange student program in Uruguay.
At present his host "parents" are Dr. and Mrs.
Alberta Riera. Patrick will live in a city apartment during the week, with weekends spent at the Riera's country home nearby and will be learning both Spanish and Portugese. His Uruguian "brother," Antonio, is eager to show O Patrick a South American pre-Lenten carnival, and is also hoping to take him to the soccer world cup qualification matches in Mantevideo.

Before Patrick's departure, Sergio Zeballos, a Princeton University student from Uruguay, paid the Keenans a surprise visit to answer questions about his country, show pictures, and generally to make Patrick leel acquainted with his new home. Patrick applied to AFS to become an exchange student this past October.
After approval by an area committee, his application was forwarded to the AFS International committee in New York City who chose him to go to Uruguay.

The AFS Chapter here is d now taking applications for host families who, like the Rieras, would like to have a high school age student from a foreign country as a member of their family. Interested families of PHS students should contact Mrs. Benjamin Wright, 921-7870. Families with Princeton Day School students may call Mrs. Lucius Wilmerding, 921-8266. Stuart Day School's representative is Mrs. A.W. Tabell, 921-6965.

Another Princeton student, Richard Besser, son of Dr. and Mrs. William Besser, has returned to his studies at Princeton High School after spending a year as an AFS exchange student in Melbourne, Australia.

Poll Shows That "Any Democrat But Byrne" Would Be Favored As State's Next Governor

If the election for Governor were being held now, more New Jerseyans say they would vote for the Democratic candidate than the Republican, provided that the Democratic candidate is not Governor Brendan T. Byrne.

The results of the latest Eagleton Poll found that when asked whether they would vote for a Democratic candidate or a Republican candidate "if the election were being held today," New Jerseyans chose a Democrat over a Republican by a 37 to 24 percent margin, with 28 percent saying it would depend on who the candidates were, and 11 percent undecided.

However, when asked to choose between Brendan Byrne, running as a Democrat, and a Republican candidate, the state's voters chose the Republican by a 45 percent to 19 percent margin, with 24 percent saying it would depend on who the Republican candidate was, and 12 percent unsure. Poll results also showed that many people who would ordinarily support a Democrat for governor indicated that they would not support Gov. Byrne. Of those who said they would choose a Democrat, only 43 percent also said they would choose Byrne over a Republican opponent.

These findings are similar to results obtained just prior to last November's election. At that time New Jerseyans chose a Democrat over a Republican by a 35 percent to 29 percent margin, but preferred a Republican over Gov. Byrne by a margin of 53 to 19 percent.

Poll results also indicated that the state's voters take a negative view toward Byrne's performance as governor. Only 22 percent gave him a positive rating of "excellent" or "good," while 72 percent gave him a negative rating of "only fair" or "poor." The remaining 6 percent were undecided.

Scott Taylor, the Associate Director of the Eagleton Poll, pointed out that "when one considers the present low level of voter support for Governor Byrne, in addition to New Jerseyans' consistently negative evaluation of his performance in office, one can't help but conclude that winning a second term is going to be a very difficult task for the Governor."

People who identified themselves as Democrats chose Gov. Bryne over a Republican candidate by only a slim 35 to 33 percent margin. Republicans chose their party's candidate over Gov. Byrne by an overwhelming 75 to 5 percent margin, and Independents chose the Republican over Gov. Byrne, 44 to 13 percent.

At present Gov. Byrne's only major source of support comes from New Jersey's nonwhite population. Even though a majority of this group (66 percent) gave him a negative rating when asked to evaluate his performance, in choosing between Gov. Byrne and a Republican candidate for governor, non-whites preferred Gov. Byrne by a substantial 44 to 24 percent margin, with 17 percent saying it would depend on who the Republican candidate was, and 15 percent

The Eagleton Poll is conducted regularly throughout the year by the Eagleton Institute of Politics at Rutgers University, A scientifically-selected sample of 1005 New Jersey adults, 18 years and older, is interviewed by telephone.

CITATION ISSUED

For Work With "Crosstown '62." Martha Nielsen, coordinator of "Crosstown '62", the transportation service for continuity of the page of the continuity of th senior citizens, has been cited by the Greater Princeton Jaycees for her contribution to the community.
''Crosstown,'' a project sponsored by the Jaycees, has been in operation for almost 18 months. It was reinstituted in September, 1975, after a previous program had failed, and is now running at capacity.

In presenting an award of appreciation, Jaycee President Ed Salkind and Chairman Pat Kidd praised Mrs. Nletsen's dedication to her job and her efforts to provide an "emotional outreach" to seniors as well as souther days scheduling routine day-to-day scheduling of riders. She has worked closely with the Crosstown driver, Jane Bersch, of Kendall Park, in developing a program that provides service

Storms was also found to be in possession of under 25 grams of marijuana. Released later in 10 percent cash of $250 bail, he is scheduled to appear in Borough court on March 16.

APPLICATIONS DUE For College Ctub Awards.

Applications are now available for the Women's College Ctub of Princeton's scholarship awards.

Applicants for the awards must be senior girls who have attended Princeton schools for at least two years, have applied to (and subsequently register at) an accredited four-year American college or university, have taken the College Board Scholastic Aptitude Test or the American College Test and have completed the Princeton Scholarship Program Con-fidential Financial Statement. Princeton Princeton High School applicants may call Martha Hartman, 921-6267. Students at Stuart, PDS and Hun may obtain forms from their college guidance counselors. PDS and Stuart applications must be completed by March i; all others by March 15.

The club also maintains an interest-free Memorial Education Loan Fund to enable girls who have com-pleted their freshman year to continue college. Information on this fund is available from Mary Turnbull, 924-1370.

COURSE OFFERED

In Diabetes Care. "Life with Diabetes" is the title of a fourweek seminar offered to the public by the Department of Community Health Services of the Medical Center at Princeton. The classes will be held Wednesdays at 3:30 beginning March 2, in the hospital's meeting rooms.

Teaching the course will be Barbara Krivda, a public health nurse, with Mary E. Goodman and Marcia Wiedis, therapeutic dieticians. The physician diabetic's prescribes a schedule of medication, diet and exercise. The course is designed to help the diabetic implement his doctor's instructions and maximize bis flexibility.

Included will be tips on traveling and sports participation. Cost-conscious methods of medical maintenance will be discussed along with research advances in the field. The Diabetic Gourmet is the concluding of the suggesting how to order in a restaurant, and reviewing diabetic cookbooks and recipes.

The instructors encourage participation by the family and friends of attending diabetics. Routine maintenance is critical to a diabetic's health, and by understanding the specific implications of diet and exercise a family can help a diabetic adhere to

Sturdy Puzzles. You'll also find wonderful puzzles here -the sturdy kind that can be done over and over again. There are colorful rubber ones for the younger children and plywood jigsaw puzzles with more than 80 pieces for the six and older set, $3.50 to $6.

For the very littlest children there are the basics such as nesting blocks with a different picture on each side, from $2.25; a suction based clown for the highchair tray, $1.25; a soft plush ball with a bell inside, $3.50; and a large collection of natural wood cars and trucks, approximately $3.25 to $7.25.

Most elaborate, and new here, is a handsome leather trimmed wooden rocking

Helping out each week are yarn, a butterfly display case, two high school girls, and Miss tiny spectacles, a stricker is delighted to have backgammon board, a group them. "Whatever they want to of magazines and whatever of let them," she said. else you can begin to imagine. Obviously, they enjoy the Most are priced below $2, but collection of doll house we did notice a pewter tea set miniatures and their little at $10. touches are evident Located at 10 Moore Street, throughout the scenes. For Stuff 'n Nonsense is open instance, a small child is Tuesday through Saturday playing with a bag of marbles, from 9:30 until 5. a kitten is drinking milk and the Stuff 'n Nonsense bakery sign has been carefully hand

The furniture itself is not high-priced. In Miss Britcher's words, "It's the cheapest I can find and still have it be good." There are cribs, high chairs, a wooden canopy bed, a patchwork quilt and pillow, a pedestal desk and upholstered pieces, all under $10 under $10.

Then there are the accessories which start at 35

Industrial Arts Supported.

To the Editor of Town Topics: I am writing in support of the continuance of a strong Industrial Arts program in the Princeton Regional Schools, both as a Borough parent and as Learning Consultant at Community Park. It is essential, I think, that "non-academic" options be available through the grades, particularly at the Middle and High School levels, for students who have difficulty with "academic" subjects, for students whose skills lie in non-verbal areas, and for received funds for tools and verbal students who may need supplies.) to broaden their educational enthusiastic 5-year-olds with strong spatial and manual skills, but less developed verbal skills. The school world puts such high values on verbal skills, sometimes to the almost total exclusion of other kinds of abilities, that these students often get the message that they're not as good as others - dumb is the word they

They begin to be afraid to compete; they shy away from the reading activities that others can do so well. This is particularly true in Princeton; this community, with its University orientation, reinforces the misguided notion that the only kind of intelligence worth having is the verbal abstract kind.

I am also sad to see students being subtly pressured into strictly academic learning so early in their lives. That happened to me; I was nearly 40 before I experienced the Prn. Shop. Ctr., 921 2205.

Arts program, Technology for Children (T4C). Both my children have participated in this program; as a parent, I think that it has been an important ingredient in their school day. As Learning Consultant, I have seen turned-off, discouraged children blossom when offered this option, which, when combined with reading and math ac-tivities, can be an important motivating force. (T4C is a Federally funded program; this year each of the elementary schools has supplies.)

At the Middle School, Woodshop and Metalshop, with one teacher apiece, are available to only a small fraction of the students at one enthusiastic 5-year-olds with teacher for over 800 students. What a shame! My son's enthusiasm for school was never greater than when he was a student in Mr. Spencer's Metalshop class; he wanted to take it, or Woodshop, again this year, but enrollment is severely limited, and, as one of the Guidance counselors commented, these are the most sought-after cycle courses. (A significant fact, I think!) My son is already talking about the Industrial Arts courses that be wants to take when he gets to the High School.

> I agree with Mr. Wood that these courses are not frills. They are essential ingredients in a good educational program for students of differing backgrounds, abilities, and preferences. I am pleased to read that Hannah Fox supports this option, and hope that other Board members and parents will add their

Dog Tattoos Offered

Hopewell Valley Paw Prints and the Dog Owner's Educational League will sponsor a dog tattoo clinic on Saturday, March 5. The clinic will be conducted from 10 to 2 at the Hopewell Township Garage, corner of Scotch Road and Washington Crossing Road.

A fee of $5 will be charged for the AKC-approved tattooing of the owner's social security number on the dogs' inner right hind leg. The procedure is quick and painless and is a positive way to identify lost dogs.

For more information and reservations, call Mrs. Phyliss Andreasen at 609-466-3163 or Mrs. Billie McFadden at 201-782-0298.

The American Civil Liberties Union and the Unitarian Church of Princeton are co-sponsoring a Death Watch Workshop in a continuing campaign to persuade Gov. Byrne not to sign Senate Bill 639, restoring the death penalty in the state of New Jersey.

The workshop will take place on Saturday from 9:30 to 2:30 at the Unitarian Church, Cherry Hill Road. Following a 10-minute film, "Cruel and Unusual Punishment," the principal address will be given by Deborah Leavey, director of the ACLU's national Capital Punishment Project, national coordinator of the Coalition Against the Death Penalty, and staff member of Ms. Magazine.

Following a legislative history and up-date on death penalty legislation in this state by Dorothy Schoenwald, ACLU's state legislative director, a panel of representatives from organizations against the penalty will discuss the need for continued opposition and define the objectives of such a campaign in the light of current realities. Among these will be the New Jersey Council of Churches, F.O.R., Public Defender's Office and Friends' Council of New Jer-

"THE BISHOP'S HILL"

Though few people know this property by that name (thereby hangs a talel), a great many know it as one of the very loveliest - inside and out - in all of Princeton. Surrounded by masses of flowering dogwood, truitful apple trees, stunning evergreens, mature landscaping, and edged by old woods, this charming brick and frame home seems to have grown quite naturally on its high hilltop setting. Designed with taste and imagination, the house is a happy combination of beauty and comfort, formal grace and country warmth, traditional and contemporary

JUST NORTH OF PRINCETON OVERLOOKING THE BEDENS BROOK VALLEY COME SEE A MAJESTIC NEW CONTEMPORARY WITH A VIEW.

This artist's sketch gives a pretty good approximation of what our newest contemporary will be like. Inside you'll find an airy cathedral ceiling in the living room and a massive stone fireplace, a large formal dining room, a relaxing separate family room with a beautiful view, and a convenient eat-in kitchen with easy access to all rooms. In the bedroom wing will be a spacious master bedroom suite with a view, and two additional comfortable family bedrooms and a full bath. The single level design is exceptional as is the floor plan, while such features as a dramatic sunken living room should further distinguish this home from any others in the area. Call us soon to review the plans with our excellent builder, or bring your plans and let us impress you with the value we can build for you near or in Princeton.

A SPLENDID HOME IN A PARK LIKE SETTING: SPACIOUS, WONDERFULLY WOODED, FAMILY ORIENTED, AND BRAND NEW TO THE MARKET. You won't believe how beautiful the grounds are of this lovely 4-5 bedroom colonial home, which features an extraordinary in-ground pool and patio area. Inside, you'll find an elegant raised living room, a separate formal dining room, a tastefully panelled family room with built-in bookshelves, and a free standing colonial brick hearth, and a convenient eat-in kitchen with a laundry room and powder room nearby. Upstairs the bedroom layout is excellent with a separate master suite with its own full bath. Complete with a circular driveway, central air conditioning, an AM/FM intercom, and a private park like setting that you'll enjoy all year round. Available for the first time so call us now

VARIED USES. In the church proper you'll find a gracious entry foyer, a pastor's study or office, a library room, and an amazing sanctuary 25 x 49 feet long with beautiful chestnut pews seating 140 to 150 people. Downstairs you'll find a huge fellowship hall, seven classrooms and separate kitchen facilities for church dinners. The parsonage itself has a living room, dining room and kitchen all with chestnut woodwork and four delightful bedrooms upstairs. For sale as a package, but the church must be sold first if sold separately. Good accessability to major thoroughfares such as the New Jersey Turnpike. Call us at Firestona for a copy of the plans. The church is available for $96,500 and the personage for an additional $28,500.

IN THE BELLE MEAD AREA JUST NORTH OF PRINCETON This handsome allbrick colonial is situated on a beautiful three acre site at the foot of Sourland Mountain. Inside, you'll find an entry foyer, a living room with fireplace, a large elegant dining room, a separate study and a completely modern kitchen. Upstairs are four comfortable bedrooms and two full baths, the master suite having its own separate bath and shower. A gern of a house in a friendly neighborhood.

by Mel Ailas, Reg. Pharm

Many of the customs of our ancestors have helped materially in protecting and saving, as well as improving human health. The human health. The utilization by our forefathers of natural forces, such as sunshine, sleep, rest, and invigorating work, are good examples. On the other hand many customs and beliefs from the early days are from the early days are based entirely on superstition. Here are some medical beliefs held over from earlier days. 1. A baby will not grow if a hat is ptaced upon his head before he is one year old. 2. Illness of a child may be prevented by bathing him in greasy dish-water. 3. A sore throat is cured by drinking water out of a stranger's shoe.

Important for your well being is the fine services available to you at FORER PHARMACY, 160 Witherspoon First aid department, patent medicines as well as competent pharmacists to serve you. #### A HOME FOR ALL SEASONS

This Montgomery Township rancher is the ideal family home in every season. As cold as the winter has been, you can keep warm by the stone fireplace in the living room or Franklin stove in the large family room. The three zone heat gives you the option of controlling the temperature throughout the house. In spring you can enjoy the almost one and onehalf acres with fruit trees, including apple, peach, pear and cherry, as well as the sunken rear patio. To all of this add a huge custom kitchen, 3 bedrooms 21/2 baths, slate entry foyer, attic, full basement and central air conditioning. Who could ask for more!

Three of Our Prestigious Properties.

"HERE IS THE PLACE WHERE LOVELINESS KEEPS HOUSE - BETWEEN THE RIVER AND THE WOODED HILL". (Cawein) Beauty of line and ease of maintenance are blended together in this dramatic and grandly spacious brick contemporary built just seven years agoupon a plinth to dilineate the house from the land. Ten acres of magnificently landscaped land with pond, bridge, curving drive, natural setting and a commanding view of the Delaware River. The splendor of the entry sets the pace for the rest of the meticulously designed rooms - keeping in mind adults as well as children. Living room with fireplace, parquet floors, sliding doors to terrace: Dining room invites entertaining with ten foot doors leading from entry, access to terrace: Den with fireplace and brick wall, wet bar enclosed by double doors fourteen feet wide, sliding doors to another terrace: Library with solid teak panelling -floor to ceiling bookshelves: Powder room with marble sink and vanity: The bedroom wings afford the utmost privacy - two bedrooms with bath: Master bedroom suite with bath, compartmentalized closets, dressing area with vanity and sink, study area: Entry to indoor heated and air conditioned swimming pool and gym area: Unbelievable kitchen wing with every modern convenience for gourmet entertaining! (With a butler's pantry too); Laundry room. There's a second story with two more bedrooms, a connecting bath, sitting area and balcony. Of course, there is a maid's room and bath, full basement designed by its owner, so you know what to expect (really it is built like a battle ship), wine cellar, game room and lots of storage. STAGANDOE FARM... Secluded splendor in the hills of Harbourton... Just minutes from Princeton, a truly unique contemporary combining the talents of its owner-builders -- he a famed New Jersey architect and she an equally noted landscape architect and interior designer, plus a small regiment of artisans, the highest quality materials available and the marvellously understated elegance of its interior decor. Hundreds of mature trees and plants, of specimen variety, thousands of bulbs, surround the acreage of trees and woods...with circular driveway down the secluded entrance, heated olympic pool, delightful pond, three-story brick stable. Absolute luxury abounds inside...with imported woods highlighting the elegant rooms...from the gallery entrance to the marble master bath with sunken tub! At this point, for those truly interested, we must ask that you call for our detailed narrative brochure with all the pertinent facts on this outstanding example of New Jersey country living at its best!

TRADITIONAL ELEGANCE...BLENDED WITH TODAY'S EXCITEMENT! Combine a traditional stone Georgian Colonial built by Matthews in 1927, meticulously updated by the finest designers in 1972 and you have the components for this most unusual and very special home. The setting is perfect for a busy, active family, offering privacy when required, as well as entertainment gathering areas when needed. The particulars include a gracious front to back center hall, living room, garden room, dining room, powder room, library, fantastic kitchen and family room with breakfast area and all the storage available! The family area consists of four family bedrooms and three baths on the second floor, plus a guest wing of two rooms and a bath. The third floor has been transformed into a breathtaking master bedroom suite, dressing room and compartmentalized bath. Add to this the exquisite grounds, pool, pool house and outside party area, stone terraces and walls, brook meandering through the property, apartment above the two-car attached garage and you have the subtle blend of the traditional and the exhilarating! $575,000

The phone rings. It is an independent film producer calling from Hollywood. "Congratulations, you have been chosen to play the title role in our film, "Superman."

That's the stuff which actors' dreams are made of and tors' dreams are made of and Hollywood magazines feast on, but it happened one day last week to Christopher Reeve, 24-year old son of Mrs. Tristam B. Johnson of 34 Cleveland Lane.

The telephone rang in Mr. Reeve's New York City apartment while he was in the middle of a month-long ap-pearance in an Off-Broadway play and wondering what he would do next. His selection ends an 18-month search for someone who combined the looks and the talent for the dual role of Clark Kent and Superman in a two-part movie with Marlon Brando and Gene Hackman.

Mr. Reeve was first invited to "meet" Ilya Salkind and Richard Donner in the Sherry Netherlands Hotel in New York in mid-December. In late-January he was flown to London to do a screen test, which consisted of two scenes with Lois Lane from the actual

He says he played the Clark Kent part in the screen test somewhat wryly, a la Jimmy Stewart, which apparently was effective, because Mr. Donner called from London to tell him how much he liked his work. "I got this part for two reasons," Mr. Reeve says, matter-of-factly, "for my jawline and nose-a general look-and for my ten years acting experience.

"I am still in the stage where I go up for a part," he adds. "This was just another audition, but I happened to land a big one, a tuna instead of a minnow."

He is excited by the "adventure" of working with two of the best film actors in the business and of the challenge of bringing good acting to the

And he seems calm and collected in the face of the mounting publicity. "All that really matters is the day I show up for work," he says, adding that making a movie is a grueling 7-a.m.-to-8-p.m., Monday-through-Friday assignment.

Many of his classmates at Princeton Day School felt he was headed for the big-time someday and said so in notes they wrote in his 1970 year-book. He remembers vividly, too, a remark by Milton Lyon, for whom he played small roles in a number of PJ&B productions, in the spring of his freshman year at PDS, when he was 14. "You should be careful about what you want and what you do," said Mr. Lyon, "because you may be the one in a million who makes it."

When the phone rang last week, he was ready.

JULIE HARRIS COMING As "Belle of Amherst." The YWCA will sponsor a theatre evening to benefit its Pearl Bates Scholarship Fund on Monday, April 4, when Julie 924-4825, ext. 23.
Harris comes to McCarter in Continued on The Belle of Amherst.

Tickets for premium orchestra seats, priced at $15 each, also include a coffee and informal lecture on Emily Dickinson, the Woman and the Poet, led by Princeton University professor Judith Wilt at the YWCA on Saturday morning, April 2, as well as a reception following the Monday evening performance of McCarter at McCarter.

Miss Harris will bring to Princeton audiences for the frinceton audiences for the first time her memorable celebration of the life, spirit and poetry of Emily Dickinson. Although alone on the stage, she peoples it with femily, friends and neighbors one can almost see, and establishes for the audience a rapport with the legendary rapport with the legendary maiden lady who lived her quiet life in Amherst, Massachusetts, during the Massachusetts, during the 19th century, creating poetry that interpreted universal experience. The stage portrayal, written by William Luce, captures both the mischevious wit and spiritual profundity of Emily Dickinson.

The theatre benefit com-mittee is headed by Mrs. James Thornton, and includes Mrs. Charles Dennison, Mrs. Peter Knipe, Mrs. William Kirby, Mrs. Robert Offenhauer, Mrs. Albert Barclay, Mrs. Nathanial Burt, Mrs. Harold O'Brian, Mrs. George Ford, Mrs. Charles

OFFICERS ELECTED

In Princetou

Witherspoon School auditorium under the sponsorship of the Middle School orchestra, Portia Sonnenfeld conductor. The MCSO is a 72-piece orchestra composed of high school and some college age musicians.

The concert is a repeat performance of one scheduled the Kirby Arts Center of the Unaccompanied Sonata No. 1 Lawrenceville School. Music in g minor and the Pourley Mendelssohn Reveal by Mendelssohn, Ravel and Rimsky-Korsakoff will be heard, and admission is free.

Ms. Sonnenfeld was eager to have the orchestra come to John Witherspoon School because, as she says, "They do an amazing job, and it is nice for younger children to see young people perform. A middle school child gives up playing his instrument if he doesn't have a lot of stimulation to continue," she added. "They see sports heroes on TV, but musical neroes are less evident, and when it is someone just a little older than yourself, it has a errific effect."

Beth Adler, Betsy Powell and Jennie Southgate, all students at Princeton High School and members also of Sonnenfeld's Princeton High School orchestra, play in he string section of MCSO. Katrina Jones of Stuart School s first cellist; Ellen Ransky, sue and Vicky Greco and locelyn Kalajian, all of West-Vindsor-Plainsboro School, lay flute, cello, clarinet and iolin, respectively.

There are also a number of oungsters from Hopewell alley High School, Lawrence ligh School and The awrenceville School, as well s Trenton and Bucks County chools.

At University Chapet. Music by Mozart will occupy the greater part of the musical content of the Communion service to be celebrated at the Princeton University Chapel Sunday at 11. Prof. Walter Nollner is director of music in the University Chapel.

The Ordinary of the service is called 'Mass in C Major (KV259)," and was composed by Mozart in December 1776. It is scored for chorus, small orchestra including organ, two trumpets, timpani and strings. The soloists will be Catherine Treadgold '80, soprano; Marie-Louise Roden, alto; Robert Brown, tenor; and Charles Brown '77, bass, all members of the Chapel Choir. Roger Ruckert '77, principal University Organist, is the organist for the service.

Also to be heard are four sonatas for organ and instrumental ensemble, short pieces composed (as was the C Major Mass) in the 1770's for the services in the Salzburg Cathedral. The service is open, and the public is invited.

HAT IN THE RING Princetonian For Assembly. Peter Bearse, who assists in directing the Center for New Jersey Affairs at Princeton's Woodrow Wilson School, has entered the race for the Democratic nomination to the State Legislative Assembly in the 14th District, which includes parts of Mercer, Morris and Middlesex counties and all of Hunterdon. He was for three-and-a-half years executive director for the New Jersey State Economic Policy Council, a position in which he became familiar with the state's financial and economic problems and made a variety of recommendations to the Governor and Legislature.

Mr. Bearse said: "I am

On Stevens Boycott. A recently-organized group of concerned faculty at Princeton University will sponsor a Teach-In on the J.P. Stevens Boycott on Thursday at 7:30 in Frick 120 on Washington Road.

The Teach-In will address issues raised by the workers' struggle for social justice at J.P. Stevens. The program will feature presentations by several Princeton University faculty members, an account by a former Stevens worker by a former Stevens worker and a documentary film.

The faculty group, the first of its kind in the country, was formed to express support for the nationwide consumer boycott of J.P. Stevens textile products called by the Amalgamated Clothing and Textile Workers Union of the AFL-CIO. The group hopes to bolster the efforts of Princeton University students who organized two large demonstrations to assist J.P. organized two large demonstrations to assist J.P. Stevens workers in their struggle to unionize and improve wages and working conditions.

Professors Eric Foner and Walter Licht of the Department of History at Princeton will speak at the Teach-In on the historical significance of present efforts to unionize in the South, particularly in the textiles industry. Professor Sanford Levinson of the Politics Department will talk on the National Labor Relations Act and the Stevens Company's circumvention of the law.

Professor H.H. Wilson, also of the Politics Department, will speak on the role Princeton University plays in the struggle. The Teach-In will also feature a former Stevens worker from North Carolina, who will offer a first-hand account of life in the mills and the present campaign. A 30minute documentary on the boycott, first presented on WNET's McNeil-Lehrer Report, will be shown. The actions of R. Manning

Here's a surprising baseball fact ... Although Reggie Jackson is considered a superstar, and although he received several million dollars to sign with the Yankees for the coming season, did you know he has NEVER batted over .300 for ANY season in the majors or minors! ... Although Reggie has some impressive home run figures and leadership qualities, his lifetime batting average is just

One of the most amazing comebacks in sports history was that of pro basketball player Dave Stallworth of the Knicks ... He suffered a heart attack in 1967, but with a program of therapy, he came back to not only play again, but help the Knicks win the championship in 1969 ... It's hard to imagine anyone playing the strenuous sport of pro basketball after a heart attack, but Dave Stallworth did.

Here's an oddity ... There was once a heavyweight boxing champion of the world who was NOT a heavyweight! ... Boxing rules say a heavyweight is any fighter over 175 pounds -- but the heavyweight champ in 1906 was Tommy Burns, who weighed only 168 pounds.

Outcome of 1977 lvy League Basketball Race Likely to Be Decided in 2 Games at Columbia

To keep from becoming involved in the first playoff the Ivy League has seen since 1968, Princeton's basketball team must not only beat Princeton Columbia in New York Sunday
but hope that Penn will lose
Columbia there the following night. The standings could, of course, be unexpectedly altered if Cornell manages an upset of either of the front-runners at these but changes are the Ithaca but chances are the outcome will hinge on the games at Columbia. Princeton's contest there will be televised at 8 o'clock by WOR Channel 9.

Princeton and Penn both are scheduled to finish the following weekend at home, where they rarely lose. Brown and Yale will provide the opposition on March 4 and 5.

Because Columbia is out of the running (all but mathematically) following its upset last week by Brown at Providence, it may be all the tougher for the two remaining contenders to beat because it will no longer feel the pressure of an actural race. Much of the Lions' ability to provide top flight opposition will, however, depend on the availability of their fine sophomore forward, Juan Mitchell, who severely twisted his ankle in the game here on February 12.

He was averaging better than 15 points a game when injured and was the prime factor in the Columbia front line. His absence had much to do with the Lions' problems with Brown, and their inability to score more than 14 points in the second half while holding off Yale, 48 to 42. He was listed as highly doubtful for action this weekend.

SEASON NEARS END

For Tiger Skylers Only for its third triumph aver. for its third triumph over Princeton this winter, having won a holiday tournamnet game, 8-5, and the first league encounter, 11-0.

If Brown can survive a pair of games with high-scoring Dartmouth and Cornell can repeat an earlier victory over Harvard this week, the 1977 race will in all probability end in a tie. Unlike policy in basketball and baseball, where first-place brings a shot at NCAA action, there is no tie-breaking contest, because teams ranking in the top eight in the ECAC all qualify for the post-season playoffs. The deadlock in the standings was created when Brown hung on period.

Early Lead for Crimson. Harvard, which had been taken into overtime by the Tigers before winning, 5-4, at Cambridge earlier this month, thoroughly dominated the return encounter here Friday night. Two of its goals were scored short-handed, a per-formance rarely matched and almost certainly never sur-passed in Baker Rink's 55-year history.

The Crimson's 3-0 lead was dented midway through the middle period when Trevor Kilburn climaxed close-in pressure on the Harvard cage by beating goalie Brian Petrovek. The visitors got that back early in the final round defenseman Henry when Lane fell while trying to put a power play in motion at his blue line. A Harvard forward got possession, skated in alone on FredCherne and it was 4-1, with Princeton embarrassed by the fact that it was a man long while being scored on for the second time.

John Van Siclen banged in a Craig Tresham rebound midway through the period, climaxing a power play that saw the Tigers with a two-man advantage. The Crimson got that one back a few minutes later when a fast break was made possible by a player coming out of the penalty box just as the puck was loose at mid-ice.

The losers outshot Harvard, 17-12, in the final 20 minutes, but the evening's total favored the Crimson, 36-30. It was the Cambridge sextet's shots at Cherne and it was inevitable that this rata-tat-tat would eventually take its toll. In the final round, it did, to the tune of four unanswered goals. On the evening, the Green had a shots-on-goal margin of 54 to 22, which seems to indicate that no one in Orange and Black spent much time playing defense. That and the near-total inability to run power plays properly-not only so they are productive but do not result in goals by the opposition- are the two most visible weaknesses of this team. No one can fault its spirit; in fact, it is a tribute to the players and to the game of hockey itself that they give battle as long as they do.

After Cornell, Penn will be here Tuesday and Boston College the following Saturday to close out the season. When the Quakers upset Harvard Saturday, 4-3, the Tigers were left alone in last place and will need to trim Penn if they are to drop Yale into the cellar. Penn won the first game between the teams in Philadelphia, 3 to 2.

FINAL GAME FRIDAY Steinert vs. PHS Five. Some

persons, psychologists say, are unable to cope with success. And some basketball

Maybe the Princeton High School team needs a session on the couch to find out why it can't hold big leads. Prin-ceton's 73-69 upset loss to visiting Lawrence Thursday wasn't the first time the Little Tigers have nosedived - they led twice by 18, 26 to 8 and 47 to 29 — but this time the results were more painful. The loss only its fourth in 22 games — cost PHS a share of the first Colonial Valley Conference

"There is no way Lawrence has better talent than us, but they were hungrier," said a nonplused PHS coach Mary Frotman after the game. "We had the opportunity, we had the big lead and then we forgot we were a team.

Frotman, no mean psychologist himself, "a loss is a good lesson. We may be better for it in the (NJSIAA) tournament.

But for the moment, Trotman admitted the loss was "depressing. We threw away our share of the title. I feel worse," he said, "about this one than any other game I've ever been associated with - as a player and a coach.

"It hasn't anything to do with the game. It was the relationship between me and the players that went away."

Then Trotman was on a high again. "I don't care if Lawrence is 1-30. We're still 18-4. One game isn't going to ruin your season. If it had to come this way, I have no regrets about it."

Final Game Friday. PHS will end its regular season came down the court with 21 Friday evening at 8 when it seconds left but any chance of plays host to Steinert. One of forcing a tie evaporated when the "Big Four" comprised of Trenton, Ewing, Hamilton and itself, Steinert is below the 500 mark this year but has played well in spots, par-ticularly against top-ranked teams. In a recent outing, it lost a 67-65 upset bid against favored Thomas Jefferson when the latter rallied in the final minutes to win.

Next Wednesday evening at 7:30 in the PHS gym, the Little Tigers will play their first NJSIAA game, playing the winner of the Freehold Borough - Allentown game.

PHS Leads Early, 22-8. Lawrence entered the PHS contest with a 9-10 record. Princeton, its play reflecting its 18-3 mark, blitzed the Cardinals in the first period, 22-8. At the half, it was 40-27.

The scoring was balanced with Todd Blackledge hitting for 10 points, Mike Fuschini and Junior Oldham, nine each and Bernie Oldham, eight.

Tournament Doubleheader Set for PHS

Both the Princeton High School boys and girls basketball teams will engage in a state tournament double header next Wednesday evening, March 2, at the PHS gym.

The boys, seeded second in the Central Jersey Group 2 division, will play the winner of the Freehold Borough-Allentown game at 7:30. The Little Tigers drew an opening

In the opening game at 6, the PHS girls, seeded fourth, will meet the winner of the Somerville-Red Bank team.

If both teams advance, there will be another doubleheader on Friday, March 4, at the PHS gym. The girls will play the winner of the St. Pius of Piscataway vs. Delaware-Rumson winner. Tapoff is at 6. At 7:30, the PHS boys team will face the winner of the Hopewell Valley-Red

In the previous three years, the Little Tigers under coach Mary Trotman have failed to survive the opening round in NJSIAA play.

A basket by Blackledge, a three - point play by Fuschini and another two - pointer by Oldham had PHS up 47-29 early in the third period. Then, the start of the turnaround.

Time and again, Noto, guarded by Oldham who was playing with four fouls, broke free under the basket for easy layups. He had eight points in the first four minutes of the period.

Lawrence erupted for another 10-point spurt, midway in the period. Scott Piccone's goal with 4:09 left brought them to within one, 63and Jack Brunner's following basket put the Cardinals on top for the first

PHS WINS MATFINALE

Over Notre Dame, 32-26. The Princeton High School wrestling team managed to salvage a somewhat disappointing season by winning its last two dual meets, following its victory over Trenton with a 32-26 triumph over Notre Dame. The Little Tigers ended with a 6-9 dual meet record.

The NJSIAA District matches will be held Friday and Saturday at Hunterdon Central High School. PHS captain Jim O'Grady, winner of 17 of 18 matches this season, is expected to be top seeded in the 158-lb. class, while Dave Wilson, who fashioned a 14-2-1 record this year in the 135-lb. class, should be seeded second behind Hunterdon Central's Jerry Miller.

Although the Little Tigers didn't win any laurels this year, Coach Tom Murray is eagerly looking forward to next winter. And with good reason. He loses only one starter -- O'Grady.

"If we can keep everybody healthy, it should be a good year for us," said Murray. As for the season just ended, Murray said that he "knew what the problems would be when we started" but he added he was still satisfied the way things turned out. The problem, as Murray stated it often during the season, was that the Little Tigers were strong in a few classes but weak in others and did not have the depth top to bottom to be a consistent winner.

Losing Matt Wilkinson -- one of his better wrestlers -- early in the campaign with an arm injury didn't help, Murray acknowledged

3-Day Tennis Tournament This Weekend

The eighth annual Princeton Indoor Tennis Tournament will feature some of the leading college teams in the nation during the three day competition scheduled for Jadwin Gym this weekend.

Among the teams, in addition to Princeton, are North Carolina, South Carolina, Clemson, Georgia, Navy, Ohio State, and Ivy League foes Penn, Harvard and Yale.

Each school is allowed two singles entries and one doubles team. Princeton as the host school, will have two entries in both singles and doubles.

A new singles champion will be crowned, since last year's winner, Princeton's Bob Fisher, has graduated. The Princeton doubles team of Joo Gross and Tom Brightfield will be back to defend its title.

Preliminary rounds will begin Friday morning at 9. Quarter-finals and semi-finals will be held Saturday, with the finals in both singles and doubles set for Sunday. Tickets

Ivy League Presidents Vote to Allow 10 Games In Football But Scheduling Difficulties Exist

Princeton, and the rest of the Ivy League, will plan to add a tenth game to their football schedules, beginning in 1980. The presidents of the eight colleges reached such an agreement last week, more than a decade after the coaches and athletic directors and other less influential individuals such as the paying spectator began urging them to do so.

While some members of the league might prefer to schedule a tenth opponent as early as this fall, only one appears likely to find it possible. Dartmouth is expected to announce that it will book the University of New Hampshire for a game at Hanover on November 19-a week after it has concluded lvy play with Penn at Philadelphia

The other seven Ivies will in all likelihood abstain from such a step because they prefer not to move out of the league for a game after having played the last of their traditional opponents. Based on the agreement the presidents have now reached, the next opportunity for playing ten games will occur in 1980.

The three-year gap from this fall until the first year in the next decade occurs because the presidents have stipulated that an Ivy football season may not begin before the third Saturday in September and must end before Thanksgiving. The revised league schedule which went into effect last fall already has every team in action on the third September Saturday-Princeton this year will be at Dartmouth on the 17th.

In both 1978 and 1979, a tenth game is ruled out by the new agreement because the tenth Saturday, starting from mid-September, falls after Thanksgiving. In effect, the presidents have told their coaches and athletic directors and spectators, you can have ten games-sometimes. Between now and 1990, the prohibited years are 1978, 1979, 1984 and 1989.

According to Sam Howell, Associate Director of Athletics at Princeton, steps have already been initiated by the league to open up the eighth Saturday beginning in 1980. This would be done by moving the last two Ivy games back a week (where they were played for two decades until 1976), with Princeton meeting Yale and Dart-mouth or Cornell on the second and third Saturdays in November. An opponent now unscheduled would, hopefully, then be slotted into the eighth Saturday on the schedule for four years beginning in 1980.

After that, to coin a phrase, it will be 1984. Howell sees competition strong among the Ancient Eight to book teams of the same ilk: the service academies, Northwestern, Duke, Vanderbilt, Tulane, Rice, possibly a West Coast opponent such as Stanford. The problem, of course, is that every major team in the U.S. is already booked into the middle of the next decade, and the schedule switching involved could derail a sophisticated computer.

Princeton, in fact, has Army returning to its schedule in 1981, when the cadets replace Colgate. Army is also booked for the following fall, with Navy on tap for a homeand-home series that will begin in 1983. While no formal agreement has yet been signed because Ivy policy prohibits scheduling opponents more than seven years in advance, it is believed the Air Force will follow the two east coast service

It will be a while before there are indications that the Ivies' long-postponed entry into the realistic world of ten-game seasons will be successful even as early as 1980. The long-range booking policies of virtually every major college outside the league have made even finding a team which will serve as a scrimmage opponent extremely difficult. In desperation, Dartmouth-Yale and Brown-Harvard bookings have been arranged in the past on a preseason basis, but the coaches involved greatly disliked working out with opponents they would play a few weeks later for keeps.

While no statement reporting in detail why the college presidents were finally won over to a tenth game has been issued, the reasons for their affirmative action would range from awareness that all athletic budgets are vitally in need of additional gate receipts to belief that if a football program is to be maintained on parity with various non-league opponents, additional opportunity for play must be offered athletes capable of gaining admission.

The Ivy League, albeit belatedly, has taken a step down from its Ivory Tower.
